

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a supporting sleeve for a leg or arm stumps, namely a liner. The liner includes a sleeve made of an elastomeric and electrically
5 insulating material that surrounds the stump starting from the distal end thereof. The sleeve has at least in part a surrounding layer made of a suitably conductive material.